

Keeping your organisation running after suffering disruption is vitally important. There is always a risk of theft, fire or flood. Even bad weather can cause havoc.

Having your communications sorted out is a major step towards having a workable Business Continuity plan. A Revo phone system can provide a number of tools to help with Disaster Management.

- Shared Call Appearance allows key members of staff to work from home with Revo phones on the same extension and the same DDI both on the home phone and the office phone.
- Automatic call forwarding can be used to divert incoming calls to other phones e.g. mobiles or BT landlines at different locations
- Because the Revo system is portable, it can be deployed rapidly in temporary accommodation.

The Revo phone system is a hosted package, so all of these facilities run from the Revo network core and are independent of whatever is happening at your premises.
