

The Revo system offers many options for handling calls, and in particular, provides various ways in which messaging services can be used if the call is not answered in person.

Calls can be diverted to numerous other destinations including mobile phones. And there can be many triggers for diverting:

- divert all calls (I'm in Do Not Disturb mode)
- divert if I don't answer
- divert if I'm busy
- divert because the office is closed (Out Of Hours Service)

Our most frequently used messaging service is the Revo Unified Messaging system which provides not only a comprehensive voicemail facility, but also the option to email voicemail messages to any address of your choice.
